Augusta's iconic 12th hole

So what do you need to know about Augusta National? The Augusta National course (you can visit the official Masters website here) has detailed nuances which certain types of player thrive upon, whereas others struggle with factors such as uneven fairway lies, swirling winds and crazily fast and undulating Bentgrass greens. Naturally water comes into play much more on the back nine, with 3 key holes around Amen Corner, plus the critical par-5 15th and the par-3 16th both offering scoring opportunities.

2024 saw significant changes to Augusta National with 2 crucial holes on the back nine being lengthened and re-modelled. Think of it as "DeChambeau proofing." The 11th hole, White Dogwood, received a new tee box, lengthening the par-4 to a whopping 520 yards. That's not all as the fairway was re-contoured and widened by up to 15 yards, as trees on the right of the hole were removed. In a detailed change, the first cut was also removed on the right hand side, replaced by more fairway short grass, which now sees errant drives fall foul of Augusta National's amazing topography and roll out into more disadvantageous positions.

The pivotal par-5 15th, Firethorn, was also lengthened by 20 yards, with that fairway also being recontoured. Usage of short grass, by replacing the first cut, was used on other holes including the 9th and 10th, which are both par-4s. New green surfaces were also added to the 3rd (par-4 Flowering Peach), 13th (par-5 Azalea) and 17th (par-4 Nandina) holes in 2024.

However the tinkering never stops at Augusta National and 2024 sees more fresh changes to the course and in particular the par-5 13th, Azalea. Trees have been removed and a new tee box installed adding 35 yards to the hole. At 545 yards, the 13th still isn't a particularly long par-5. But as a hard dogleg left, and the tributary of Rae's Creek guarding the green, the extra 35 yards will make the decision to go for the green in two more difficult.

This re-modelling takes the course to a quoted 7,545 yard, Par 72 – but don't believe that as all fairways are traditionally mown against the hole direction to minimise driving distance, effectively meaning it will now play at around 7,900 yards. So pure yardage is way more important than creating the right angle into the flag.

Other challenges include huge and contoured Bentgrass putting surfaces which can bamboozle the inexperienced and poor putters alike. Rating at anything up to 14+ on the Stimpmeter if Mother Nature allows, these sub-air fuelled beauties are like little else the world's best golfer face across the rest of the season. Birdie chances are restricted to the smallest of target areas, many of which are only accessible by using the natural contours of the green. Difficulty is also ratcheted up by Augusta's infamous run-off areas which surround all green complexes.

The lack of rough around green complexes creates indecision when missing greens, with scrambling percentages suffering as a result. Too many options can confuse players, so course experience and a patient outlook pays.

Augusta is definitely a game of two halves. Attack all of the 4 par-5s and a number of shorter par-4s such as the 3rd, 9th, and the 14th. Tiger Woods' "in your life, have you ever seen anything like that?" par-3 16th hole – named Redbud – yields holes-in-one and birdies. But the rest of the course needs to be played with maturity and patience. Chasing scores tends to yield bogeys rather than birdies on these holes, so par golf across the majority of holes is more than acceptable.

To win a Green Jacket a player must be aggressive on the 4 par-5s and minimise bogeys across the rest of the property via a mix of metronomic greens in regulation, top-level scrambling and rock-solid short plus distance lag putting.

So what are the key factors to watch out for, what trends need to be taken into account and what statistical skill-sets does a Masters Champion need to have in his locker?

O alvinegro conta com cinco candidatos: Ricardo Agostinho, Wladimir Mattos, Rodrigo Marino, Maurício Maruca, e Marcelo Teixeira.

O novo mandatário precisará reformular o futebol ao patamar da série B. Hoje, o Santos tem jogadores com salários acima do que poderá pagar em 2024 e precisará enxugar o seu elenco, que conta com 35 jogadores.

O Conselho Fiscal demonstrou preocupação para o primeiro trimestre de 2024 mesmo diante do superávit de R$ 48.532.246,00 no terceiro trimestre de 2023, que encerrou em 30 de setembro.

O órgão esclareceu que as contas fecharam no azul às custas das vendas de Ângelo e Deivid Washington (ambos ao Chelsea) e do contrato de propaganda estática no estádio feito com a Brax, empresa de marketing esportivo.

Em meio ao cenário da luta contra o rebaixamento, o Santos também solicitou ao Conselho Deliberativo a antecipação de R$ 30 milhões referentes às cotas do Campeonato Paulista de 2024, que foi aprovado por ampla maioria.
